Tunbridge Wells Hospital

Benefit: Safer

Type: New Build

The new £226m hospital in Pembury, Kent features a dedicated Women and Children’s unit, into which a Level 2 Neo-Natal Unit has been provided offering special and high dependency care together with facilities for babies requiring neo-natal intensive care nursing.

The imposing full height primary windows required secondary glazing to provide better internal environment control, additional security and remote controlled privacy blinds.

Selectaglaze developed a design that met all criteria. Most windows have been treated with their Series 40 range of hinged and fixed panels. These have a chamfer bead to avoid dust ledges and the hinged unit has purpose designed flush hinges and flush lock with a minimal escutcheon plate to ensure the cleanest surface.

The units are glazed with 8.8mm laminated glass to meet safety levels and electrically controlled blinds ensure that privacy can be introduced without breaching the environment.
